PHAST-START: THIRD-PARTY RISK MANAGEMENT

Relying on third parties to run certain core services and business operations exposes your organisation to risks outside your direct control. As this reliance increases, the pressure to understand and manage third party risks escalates, both from within the company and external regulators.

Phinity has developed an approach that will enable customers to accelerate from a state of immature TPRM processes and lack of third party risk understanding to a well-defined, automated process with clear, actionable data to help manage third party risks in the space of approximately four weeks.

Through our TPRM Phast-Start solution, you get access to the Phinity Third Party Risk Management (TPRM) Professional solution for 12 months, as well as 80 hours of professional services from one of our partners to configure and implement the solution within your organisation – all for a set fee of €15,000.
